VIBRATION ALARM

Designed to detect vibration movements associated with tampering attempts.

- Portable – can be used at different locations or taken along on a trip
- Can protect windows (even partly opened), doors, drawers and valuables
- Uses 9-volt alkaline battery (not included)

INSTALLATION

1. Snap off the battery cover from the back of the unit. Clip in a 9-volt alkaline battery with the connections provided and snap back the battery cover.
2. Select a suitable vertical surface that is most likely to be affected by tampering action, ex: at far side of door/window from hinge.
3. Remove backing paper covering adhesive on the back of the two strips provided and attach them to the desired location with the help of the unit to determine proper separation between the two.
4. Hang the Vibration Alarm on the strips and switch unit from Off to On (if instant alarm is not desired immediately after the detection of tamper action, then switch unit from Off to Delay to introduce a delay of approximately 8 seconds after detection). A short “beep” will be heard indicating the battery is installed properly.
5. After approximately 15 seconds, the unit will start detecting vibration. When a tampering attempt is sensed, the alarm will sound.
6. The alarm can only be stopped by switching the unit to Off manually or it will automatically reset itself after approximately 70 seconds.

Important: The Vibration Alarm will only detect vibration movement properly when it is placed against a vertical surface (standing upright).
